If you have any questions, feel free to call Sandy at 859-654-8535.

Ready to make waves at A.J. Jolly

The ancient sport of Chinese dragon boat racing will return to Northern Kentucky. The fourth annual Kentucky Dragon Boat Festival, "Paddling for the Pink," will occur on Saturday, September 7 at A.J. Jolly Park in Campbell County. Join The Kentucky Thorough-Breasts, Kentucky's first breast cancer survivor dragon boat racing team and presenting sponsor St. Elizabeth Healthcare in the fight against breast cancer.

Proceeds from "Paddling for the Pink" benefit the Breast Centers of St. Elizabeth Healthcare and the ongoing mission of the Kentucky Thorough-Breasts, all of which are committed to women's health and breast cancer awareness.

Dragon boat racing has its roots in ancient China. In the last 25 years, it has been revitalized and its popularity continues to grow. It is one of the fastest growing team sports in the world. There are more than 50 million people worldwide participating in dragon boat racing each year. Teams and competitions are currently held in more than 57 nations.

Form a team and you can join the races. Teams consist of 18 - 20 paddlers and five alternates. All teams must have at least eight women. No all-male teams will be permitted. A steerperson, drummer, paddles, life jackets and dragon boats will be provided. Persons ages 14 and older can participate. No prior racing experience is required. Teams can come from co-workers, friends, spouses, church members, civic leaders, customers, neighbors and others to fill your winning team.

Each team is welcome to raise additional money for the event. Prizes will be awarded to the teams that raise the most money. You do not have to participate in the races to join in on the fun. The event will feature food vendors and live music throughout the day. Team check in begins at 7 a.m. with races starting at 8:15 a.m. An awards ceremony will be held at approximately 3 p.m.

New this year is a unique "Twilight Paddle" from 6:30 - 9 p.m. on Friday, September 6. This is an opportunity for people without a team to experience the thrill of Dragon Boat racing for only $5, but advance registration is required.

For more information and to register, go to www.p4ca.org, or call 859-391-7020.

C.A.I.P. - Phase I available soon

The Kentucky Agricultural Development Board, chaired by Governor Beshear, approved ten model programs for the Pendleton County C.A.I.P. programs. There will be three informational meetings held for the general public in reference to the County Agricultural Investment Programs available and the application process. Please RSVP for one of the following meetings so that we can ensure enough copies will be available for all attendees. Reservations can be made by calling 859-654-3395.

The first meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Wed., Sept. 4, the second will be held at 10 a.m., Thurs. Sept. 5 and the third will be held at 2 p.m., Thurs., Sept. 5. All meetings will be held in the Pendleton County Extension Office meeting room. Regardless if you have participated in these programs in the past, it is recommended that everyone interested in participating to attend one of these information meetings as some processes may have changed. Call 859-654-3395 for more information.

Pipeline

has been extracted for use as fuel for household use and electricity generation.

What are NGLs used for? The are used for various purposes, including the manufacturing of plastics, heating/cooking gas and vehicle fuel.

What is the difference between natural gas and natural gas liquids (NGLs)? "Natural gas" is the impure hydrocarbons extracted from a gas well and the gas use for household heating across the country. NGLs are the compounds remaining after the methane has been extracted.

Why aren't the NGLs being processed closer to their source? Transporting the NGLs to existing facilities and markets on the Gulf Coasts would likely be more profitable than other options such as building new processing facilities near the source.

Why not transport NGLs by rail? The pipeline will compete with railroads, so would be a way to divert revenue from railroads to pipeline operators.

Are pipelines safer than other means of transportation? While the risk of railroad accident resulting in a spill is higher than that of a pipeline spill, the overall amount spilled from pipeline is over 200 times greater than rail car spills, according to U.S. Department of Transportation data.

How often do pipeline leaks occur? According to the U.S. Department of Transportation, in Kentucky there have been 69 overall pipeline incidents since 1986, resulting in six fatalities, 43 injuries and $82 million in property damage. As of 2011 there were only 38 miles of NGL pipelines in Kentucky.

What happens when a leak occurs? Although the risk of a particular leak may be low, the results can be locally catastrophic. Very small leaks are difficult to detect from a control center. An undetected leak can contaminate soil, creeks and rivers. A large leak, if it ignites can cause serious damage, injury and even loss of life.

What's in it for our county or Kentucky? Landowners who negotiate easements for pipeline construction and operation would receive a one-off payment. There could be some local temporary construction jobs if Williams/Boardwalk use local contractors and the county would receive some ad-valorem (usage) tax revenue, although the amount is not known.

Where is the pipeline being located exactly? The exact route will depend on Williams/Boardwalk being able to negotiate easements on individual properties, but it is proposed to go generally southwest from the northeast corner of Pendleton County to the southwest corner.

Can the pipeline developer condemn property using eminent domain laws? Eminent domain power in Kentucky for this type of pipeline is not at all certain.

What regulations are in place for the pipeline? Unlike natural gas pipelines, NGL pipelines are not subject to more rigorous environmental impact studies, and there are no rules about how far the pipelines should be away from structures.

What's the harm in allowing a surveyor onto my property? The standard agreement from land agents is very open-ended, so consider using an attorney to amend the agreement with more specifics about when people will be on your land, a limit to the duration of the agreement, a termination clause and a copy of the survey report.

If I already gave permission to survey, can I rescind it? Yes, send three letters by certified mail with return request advising that you are withdrawing your consent to survey your land.

What can I do if I oppose the pipeline? Contact your state representatives, contact Governor Beshear at 502-564-2611, and stay in touch with developments at <http://www.stopbluegrasspipeline.us>.

A press release from Boardwalk Pipeline Partners, LP told of the joint venture agreement to continue the development process for Bluegrass Pipeline, a project that would transport natural gas liquids from the Marcellus and Utica shale (in the Appalachian Basin states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, southern New York and eastern Ohio) plays to the rapidly expanding petrochemical and export complex on the U.S. Gulf Coast, as well as the developing petrochemical market in the Northeastern U.S. The proposed pipeline would provide producers with 200,000 barrels per day of mixed NGLs take-away capacity in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in phase one. Phase two would increase capacity to 400,000 barrels per day to meet market demand, primarily by adding additional liquids pumping capacity. The pipeline would deliver mixed NGLs from these producing areas to proposed new fractionation and storage facilities, which would have connectivity to petrochemical facilities and product pipelines along the coasts of Louisiana and Texas.

Boardwalk Pipeline Partners, LP is a midstream master limited partnership that provides transportation, storage, gathering and processing of natural gas and liquids for its customers. Williams is one of the leading energy infrastructure companies in North America. It owns interests in or operates 15,000 miles of interstate gas pipelines, 1,000 miles of NGL transportation pipelines, and more than 10,000 miles of oil and gas gathering pipelines.

Next fair board meeting Sept. 9

There will be a Pendleton County Fair Board meeting at 7 p.m. on September 9 at the fairgrounds. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

Looking Back

25 Years Ago

August 30, 1988

The full impact of the summer of '88 - the continuing drought and the closing of schools for summer vacation - pushed the state's unemployment rate up in July, the first increase since February.

Morehead State University has announced that Melissa Lynn Schulte of Butler is among those students receiving a Presidential Scholarship for the 1988-89 academic year.

"Fall Revival"

Many of our modern day church members have never experienced a good ol' "Hell Fire and Brimstone" Revival. When I was growing up, my church, as well as most other similar denominations, had at least one revival each year. Many times there was not just one, but several that lasted a whole week.

The revival would begin on a Monday night, and then would meet each evening and end on Sunday night. If the revival still had "Spirit," I have seen revivals continue on to the next week and beyond.

There was much strong preaching about Hell. There was lively singing, testimonies, and emotional experiences. The success of any revival was the number of converts saved. The following week usually found the congregation meeting at the river for a baptismal service.

Revival meetings offered not only a spiritual reviving, but for a young teenager, they presented an event for young people to "court" and "spark." (Old people know these terms, but for the younger set, "courting and sparking" meant dating.)

I had just gotten my first car which was a 1954 powder blue and white Chevrolet. I was "hungry" to go sparking.

I had met this pretty girl from a neighboring county at a ballgame. I just had to have a date with her, but her parents would not allow her to date. She told me that she would like to go out, but the only chance I had was to go to a revival that was in progress at her church. She thought that if we would go to the revival service, her parents would permit me to take her. This was my chance!

She asked her parents and they granted permission, only if we attended the revival service.

The night arrived. I went to her home, picked her up, and headed toward the service. Boy, was she dressed pretty!

The church she attended was a little different than what I had been used to. They had more spirit and emotion. Amens and shouting accompanied remarks made by the preacher. Testimonies were given and a long and emotional invitation was given at the end with elaborate and descriptive stories of young people being killed on the way home from a revival and ending up in hell.

The hymn "Just as I Am" was sung in its entirety, over and over again.

The young fiery preacher actually walked and straddled the pews from front to back with arms outstretched shouting, "Sinners come to the alter and get forgiveness!"

My friend got all emotional and headed toward the front. All who came forward knelt down in prayer.

This church believed that a sinner had to "Be Prayed Through" for repentance.

The elders and minister knelt beside the sinner in prayer.

All eyes were closed; mine included. All of a sudden I heard a loud clap and I heard the minister say, without missing a beat in his prayer, "I did that just to test your faith!"

The service finally ended and all was in agreement that my friend had been successfully prayed through.

On the way home, she told me where to "park." I "parked" in an "out of the way cemetery" that was near where she lived.

I was a bit nervous at first, but finally asked her what the loud clap was that I heard before the minister said, "I did that to test your faith!"

She responded, "The minister placed his hand on my knee, in what I thought an inappropriate manner and I slapped him!"

She continued, with a tear rolling down her cheek, "Do you think I overreacted? He probably was very innocent. I should not have slapped him! I feel just awful!"

I put my arm around her and placed my hand gently above her knee and began a smooth pat. I whispered in the most romantic tone I knew, "Now don't you worry your pretty little head about what happened. That minister was just showing you that he was concerned about your soul."

She seemed to calm down and relax and responded with, "Would you like to go to our revival service tomorrow night?"

I very excitedly responded, "I would love to!"

SENATOR KATIE STINE'S FRANKFORT REPORT

After each national census, Kentucky's Constitution requires the State Legislature to realign our voting districts according to population. The governor called the Legislature back into Special Session to accomplish this and as a result, our 24th senatorial district will now include Bracken County along with Campbell and Pendleton counties. Interestingly enough, I used to represent a part of Bracken County when I was a state representative in the 1990s but was moved by redistricting back then. The new plan in the Senate divides the minimum number of counties and no precincts. It is not a politically-biased map, no incumbents are drawn together, but one that was drawn based on constitutional requirements. Unfortunately, I do not feel that the House Leadership treated their Northern Kentucky members as fairly. The House map denies Northern Kentucky the additional seat that I believe is our due and overpopulates Republican districts while underpopulating Democratic ones.

Since the Legislature was scheduled to be in Frankfort, Senate and House Leadership decided to move all of August's interim committee meetings to this week, in order to offset the cost of a Special Session.

The Health and Welfare Committee met where we had an animated discussion about Obamacare's healthcare exchanges which the governor has implemented in Kentucky without legislative approval. I raised numerous questions about what authority the governor had to spend tax-dollars to hire more people and create a whole new agency of government. Will there be audits? Will there be tax increases to pay for this? There were no answers to these and other questions because the governor declined to send anyone from the Cabinet of Health and Family Services or the Department of Insurance to discuss these matters.

Finally, as a woman and as a leader, I wanted to share my observations regarding the sexual harassment allegations swirling around the capitol this week. Frankfort can be a challenging place for women but those challenges should never include enduring sexual harassment, assault, or intimidation. If allegations are true of actions that occurred in the House, then they must be investigated and prosecuted to the fullest extent possible. It is unacceptable for anyone to have to endure abuse but worse still that those injuries could be compounded by their pleas for help falling on deaf ears. It is my hope that due process will be followed but more than that, that both men and women find a place and a culture here where they can serve the people of Kentucky professionally and be treated with respect and dignity while doing so.

With the governor's signature on House Bill 1, the redistricting bill, this special session is now one for the history books. I will continue to attend committee meetings in Frankfort periodically as we review legislation in preparation for January. I can be reached through the Legislative Research Commission's toll-free message line at 1-800-372-7181. You can also check the committee schedule and learn more about what the committees are doing at www.lrc.ky.gov.

LEGISLATIVE PERSPECTIVE ON KENTUCKY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Every decade, not long after the Census updates us on population changes across the country, all state governments are called upon to re-draw geographic boundaries for many of their elected offices.

That was the sole task the General Assembly had before it last week when it met in a special legislative session, and the result was a new map for the House of Representatives and Senate that drew broad bipartisan majorities in both chambers Friday morning and was signed into law a short time later. Barring a court action, this is the map that will guide legislative elections in November 2014.

Our 78th Legislative District, I am proud to report, will stay largely intact. It will continue to contain all of Harrison and Pendleton counties, and it will also include a small portion of Scott County as well. Although the district will no longer have Robertson County or a southern portion of Campbell County, I will continue to do all I can to address any concerns they may have in the future.

As you may know, this legislation took a long path to reach this point. The General Assembly began preliminary work in 2011, and in 2012 my colleagues and I adopted maps for the state House and Senate as well as for our six U.S. Representative districts and the Kentucky Supreme Court.

That court, however, was asked to review these maps, and it ruled that the district lines governing the General Assembly's seats needed to be modified before they could be enacted. In the House's case, the justices said that too many small counties were divided, even though the number of splits was the same as the map that had been put in place in 2002.

In addition to this greater focus on county integrity, other long-standing rules also call for districts to stay roughly the same size - about 43,000 people in the House's case - and they must also not dilute minority voting rights.

Earlier this year, the House attempted to re-draw its map to include all of these requirements, but the Senate requested the issue be moved to early 2014, before the late-January deadline to file for office. One positive aspect of waiting was that it enabled the General Assembly to turn its full attention to strengthening the pension systems for our local and state government employees and their retirees, legislation that will save billions of tax dollars in the years ahead.

When the General Assembly finished its work in March, many thought the redistricting process was done for the year. That timetable changed, however, when two lawsuits were filed in federal court that asked for a much quicker resolution. That is why Governor Beshear had little choice but to call last week's special legislative session, so that the maps could be ready before any trial. The hope is that this new law will negate the need for any further judicial actions.

While we wait for the final resolution, I want you to know that I have heard many of your concerns about this issue, and I agree that we need to look at ways to improve this process before redistricting is necessary again in the early 2020s. This will undoubtedly be a major topic of discussion when the General Assembly returns early next year.

Redistricting may have been the main issue in the capitol last week, but it was not the only one. The House Agriculture and Small Business Committee, which I chair, also held its regular monthly meeting at the Kentucky State Fair, as it traditionally does during this time of year. The State Fair gives many of our farmers a wonderful opportunity to highlight their hard work, so I am glad that our committee did not have to miss this event.

Although the General Assembly is not scheduled to meet again until January, I encourage you to contact me at any time of the year.

You can always reach me by writing to Room 332B, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601.

You can also leave a message for me or for any legislator at 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

The Need for Moral Constraint

By Owen and Janice Collins

Australian Chris Lane was shot and killed without warning in Ada, Oklahoma this past week. Shot as he jogged in his girlfriend's neighborhood by three juveniles, 15, 16, and 17. Two were black and the other white who brought his pregnant girlfriend to the arraignment before a judge.

According to police, one of the juveniles treated the killing as a joke, saying that they were bored, decided to kill a dog, did so, then decided to kill at random the third jogger who passed them. None of the juveniles had a father figure in their dysfunctional families. All had a long list of criminal complaints and charges against them.

Lane had traveled from Melbourne half way around the world to play baseball at East Central University and planned to go into real estate after college. His teammate said that he knew that Chris would be a success because of his Aussie accent...quipping, "He could sell a boat in a desert!" He had a lovely girlfriend from a prosperous family with whom he was visiting when his life was snuffed out. Killed at random!

Such violence is not isolated to Ada, Oklahoma. Pastor Polk from Imani Baptist Church on Georgetown Road in Lexington has organized prayer walks with 12 other churches. On Wednesday, August 21, he said that these walks were prompted by recent shootings and stabbings not only in the Georgetown area but also throughout Lexington. "Random acts of craziness," he called them. And, closer to home we have Over the Rhine in Cincinnati, which has several shootings nearly every week of the year!

Then just yesterday, August 23, Fox News reported that an old man in Spokane, Washington...a one legged man, 90 years old, waiting for friends in a parking lot....was beaten by black juveniles...senseless. He died soon after being admitted to the local hospital. He had been decorated by our government for his heroism in the battle of Okinawa.

Violence, particularly senseless violence, appears to be on the increase, and when it involves our youth so dramatically we ponder how we have slipped so far as a society and what the answer might be, if there is one? Most everyone points to the breakdown of the American family as being a primary cause for this violence binge among our youth. Feminism, deadbeat dads, drugs and alcohol, diminished faith influences, over emphasis on money and materialism, sexual revolution, and divorce: these are some often cited factors in our family breakdown which is enormous when compared with fifty years past. And, to be sure, there are those who question the need for a mother and a father in traditional family to rear a child.

What can we do?

- Push back on the ACLU which has nearly wiped out the influence of faith in the public classroom...from kindergarten to graduate school. Faith based teachings are far more restraining than secular, criminal law. Killing an old man in a parking lot elevates our violent-leaning youth in the eyes of their reference group. Only faith can get at the root of the problem which is internal and eternal.

- The Christian Church in general has failed to take a stand on many aspects of our social revolution such as abortion and same sex marriage because of members within the congregation who would be impacted by such a statement of faith. The field is white unto harvest within a stone's throw of the church bell, and we are pre-occupied with burying us old folks who teeter on a banana peeling! Youth programs should represent 80% of a church's budget.

- Insist that our government reward traditional marriage rather than pass laws that hinder it, such as penalizing an elderly couple who want to marry but cannot because of diminished benefits. Or reward out of wedlock production of offspring.

Am I optimistic any of the above will happen? Not very! And I see our social situation simply deteriorating further; I will defend myself and my family to the fullest extent possible against random acts of violence from anyone, including juveniles! Stand your ground!

Why the traffic light at Shelby Street and Maple Avenue?

I assume this light was installed by our elected city leaders to impede the "trafficking" in downtown Falmouth? I cannot imagine any other reason why a traffic light would be installed in such a ridiculous place.

Ladycats Golf Team impressed with cleanliness of Milford Road

Dear Editor:

On July 13 the Pendleton County Ladycat Golf Team collected garbage on Milford Road. We collected 11 bags of trash along the five miles of roadway. We were excited to see how clean the road was. It was evident that the residents of Milford Road take pride in their neighborhood.

A resident even stopped and expressed his appreciation to the girls for their efforts. The Ladycats would also like to thank the 109 Board for the opportunity to raise funds to help pay for expenses of tournaments for the season.

HIGHLIGHTS

Teaching kids how to extend the summer harvest

It's August and blazing hot, and your kids may be more interested in the local swimming hole than they are in the garden. But in just a few weeks, autumn temperatures will bring relief and, for some folks, an end to the growing season. The cooler weather also means fewer ripe vegetables to pick each day, and you and your child or grandchild may want to protect a few favorite plants to extend your fresh harvests as long as possible. And often there's a tangible bonus to extending the season - nurse your plants through a few chilly nights, and you may be rewarded by a glorious period of Indian summer that keeps the veggie harvest coming in.

The changing seasons offer a great teaching opportunity. Spend some time with your child talking about day length, sunlight, and temperature and how these affect plant growth at different times of year. This is also a good time to start a late crop of cool-season vegetables. Children may be amazed to learn that even in cold climates, you can plant some vegetables in late summer and reap tasty rewards in October. Here are some planting ideas and techniques to help you extend the growing season.

Movable containers

Planting vegetables in containers offers considerable late-season flexibility. Shorter days and a lower angle of sunlight mean more shadows on your deck or patio. Movable containers let you reposition the pots so your plants get the most sun. If existing container plants are struggling in late summer, consider removing them and replanting with fast-growing, cool-season vegetables, such as lettuce, spinach, radishes, and kale. When cold weather arrives, container gardens are easy to protect with plastic tarps or sheets. If a hard frost threatens, you can move containers of vegetables you care about to very protected locations, or even indoors.

Protecting prized plants

If you've grown a delicious cherry tomato or a special basil with your kids, you'll want to protect this precious plant for as long as possible. You can use a number of readily available household materials to cover individual plants: plastic sheets, old blankets, towels, and even baskets. When covering a large plant like a tomato, use stakes to erect a 'tent' frame that keeps the covering material from touching the plant's foliage. Cold temperatures can damage any leaves that come in direct contact with the material.

Fall offers a valuable opportunity to teach children more about gardening and extending the harvest season.

A favorite material for protecting plants and extending the season is floating row cover. This lightweight, cheesecloth-like, white fabric lets in oxygen, water, and sunshine, but keeps the air around plants above freezing, even when temperatures dip into the low 20s (F). It's a great material for protecting young crops or smaller plants like peppers, and it can give you a jump on spring gardens, too! Floating row cover is available at garden centers, nurseries, and some mailorder catalogs.

Cold frames

Kids love projects, and building a simple cold frame is an ideal one for this time of year. Essentially, a cold frame is a miniature greenhouse that protects plants from chilling winds and low temperatures. Some cold frames are constructed with plastic or nylon sheeting held aloft on wire hoops or wooden frames; others are made from rigid polycarbonate or even glass. As the sun passes through the clear or translucent covering, it warms the air and ground inside the cold frame.

Some of this warmth is retained overnight when the outside temperature drops. You can add to your cold frame's heat-storage capacity by placing dark-colored plastic jugs filled with water in the unit. The sun warms the water in the jugs during the day and the heat radiates out at night to help keep nearby plants warm.

If you have an old window and some planks or scrap lumber, you can build a simple cold frame. Nail the scrap wood together to form a four-sided base and top it with the storm window. Adjust the height of the sides according to the crops you want to grow in it. If you hinge the window to the wood frame at the back you can easily prop open the window on warm days to regulate heat. On cold nights, close the window and cover it with an old blanket. For a more refined structure, build the base so the front is lower than the back and the sides are angled between the two heights. Again, hinge the window to the wood frame at the back. An angled cold frame maximizes the sun your plants receive.

Ideally, locate the completed cold frame on a south-facing slope backed by a building that will protect the frame from cold north and west winds. Seed the cold frame with cool-season vegetables. Depending on where you live, your cold frame will let you harvest spinach, mache, and kale right into winter!

History of Pendleton County: Notes Collected But Not Classified

The history of Pendleton County was written by Emma McClanahan Thompson in 1934 and was printed in several editions of The Falmouth Outlook beginning July 5, 1988.

Capt. James M. Wilson born at Falmouth in 1838. He enlisted at the first call served with rank of captain and breret major and was in the battles of Chickamauga, Look-out Mt., Missionary Ridge, and many others. He was in Atlanta campaign and was with first company of troops to enter Savannah. After war he was a grocery merchant at Falmouth postmaster for 17 years under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. Mayor of Falmouth for 8 years. Died in 1917.

John Edwin Wilson, born at Williamstown in 1867, received his education at Falmouth and his M.D. degree from Medical College of Ohio in 1888. He is the second oldest physician in Falmouth and Pendleton County. At present he is the oldest acting physician. He served as County Health Officer for 12 years, organizer and first chairman of Pendleton Chapter of American Red Cross during World War, leader in prohibition movement in Pendleton County. At present mayor of Falmouth.

Sam T. Hauser, born Oct. 10, 1833 in Falmouth. Educated in schools of state. Went to Missouri in 1854 and was a civil engineer on Missouri Pacific Railway and Northern Pacific Railway. In 1863 explored Lewis and Clark route down the Yellowstone. 1865 he and N.P. Langford opened bank in Virginia City, Montana and also erected first furnace ever operated in that territory. Was actively interested in stocks and mining and various other enterprises. Name identified with the development of state of Montana. In 1885 appointed by President Cleveland as governor of Montana in which capacity he served two years.

Major Wheeler lived on Flour Creek, east of Butler. Later moved to Falmouth and ran a wool cording factory for a number of years. His daughter was either killed or seriously injured in the factory. Never much written about Major Wheeler but he was a useful man in the county at that time.

Dr. N.B. Chipman was born in Grant County. Educated at Harrisburg College and Lebanon Normal College. Received his degree from College of Medicine, Cincinnati in 1876. Moved to Falmouth in 1890 where he followed his profession. He was a great tobacco dealer, annually handling about 100,000 pounds of tobacco which he marketed in Cincinnati. He was the owner of the Old Tub Fowler Distillery. He was a director of the Citizens Bank and served one or two terms in the legislature and was one of the wealthiest men in the county. Has since died.

Mrs. Hattie S. Orr was born in Lincoln County but lived a number of years in Pendleton. She was educated at the Kentucky Female School at Midway. She served as county superintendent for two terms from 1898 to 1906. She was a most estimable woman in character, education and refinement. She is the only woman to serve in that capacity in Pendleton County. She attended all state educational gatherings and took a prominent part in them. She was solicited to become a candidate for state superintendent but declined.

Dr. J.H. Barbour came to Falmouth in 1848. He received his M.D. in 1852 and studied medicine under his brother, Dr. Daniel Barbour, one of the ablest authorities on medicine and surgery in his day. Dr. J.H. Barbour was one of the most remarkable me in Kentucky because of his retentive memory store of intelligent knowledge and his ability as physician and surgeon. From the beginning of his career Dr. Barbour stood at the head of his profession having served as post-surgeon during the Civil War, being called into consultation on many important cases both here and abroad. He was president of the County Board of Health, Medical Referee of Pendleton County Medical Association and President of U.S. Board of Pension Examiners. As a delegate to the Chicago Convention in 1880 he was one of the "Big Four Kentuckians" who broke the "unit rule" and defeated a third nomination of U.S. Grant for the presidency.

N.C. Ridgway moved to Pendleton County from Ohio in hi early thirties. He was one of the largest leaf tobacco dealers in the county. He handled an annual capacity of 800,000 pounds and owned two large warehouses in Falmouth. He was mayor of Falmouth for three or four terms and president of the Falmouth Fair Co. He was an extensive landowner, always in favor of every good cause for the betterment of his town an county

E.E. Barton, born in 1870 in Pendleton County. After his early education, he read law and was admitted to the bar in 1890, but preferred higher qualifications so entered the law department of Columbian University, Washington, D.C. graduating in 1892. During President Cleveland's last term, he served as Special Pension Agent, traveling in the northern and western states and taking an active part in the unearthing of pension frauds. Resigning in 1897 he resumed the practice of law in the county, state and federal courts of Kentucky in which he met remarkable success. In November 1899 he was elected to lower House of State Legislature, re-elected in 1901 and was a prominent candidate for the Speakership. He was member of the Goebble-Taylor-Contest Board and other important committees of the last session. Owing to ill health he gave up the practice of law to become an extensive landowner and breeder of purebred cattle. He owned a seed store in Falmouth for years and was the best informed man on the culture and growth of sweet clover in the county; he was also interested in bees and honey.

Dr. H.C. Clark was born in 1848. Read medicine under Dr. Barbour and graduated in 1874 from the University of Cincinnati. He located in Bath County and practiced there five years. In 1880 came to Falmouth and practiced until 1925. He has traveled extensively,has been a great reader and has taken an active interest in all the affairs of the town and county.

C.F. Crecelius, dentist of Falmouth, has always taken an active interest in the politics of both the county and state. He was elected Secretary of State in 1912 and served four years. At present he is the outstanding dentist of the county.

The Honorable Charles Peoples, Pendleton County Sheriff
Members of the Pendleton County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Sheriff of Pendleton County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2012, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting as described in Note 1. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Governmental Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Sheriff on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Sheriff, as of December 31, 2012, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

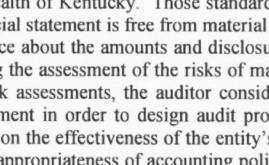

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Sheriff for the year ended December 31, 2012, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated June 14, 2013 on our consideration of the Pendleton County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Pendleton County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comments and recommendations, included herein, which discusses the following report comments:

2012-01 The Sheriff Should Ensure Bank Reconciliations Are Properly Prepared And Reviewed
2012-02 The Sheriff's Office Lacks Adequate Segregation Of Duties Over Receipts And Disbursements

Respectfully submitted,

ACLU warns Kentucky schools to follow rules regarding Bible distribution

By Linda B. Blackford
Lexington Herald-Leader

The state chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union warned Kentucky school districts Tuesday, Aug. 27 that they'll face a court challenge if they don't start following federal guidelines on distributing Bibles to students.

A letter dated Aug. 19 from ACLU staff attorney William Sharp said that despite past warnings, Bibles had been handed out by Gideons International in several elementary schools as recently as last year.

"Kentucky's public school officials have, at best, suffered from inconsistent adherence to clearly established First Amendment limits upon government endorsement of religion in the classroom," Sharp wrote.

In a phone interview Tuesday, Sharp said the intent was to stay out of court by encouraging districts to follow federal guidelines on the issue.

"Our previous attempts did not have the desired effect, so we decided to put the applicable law in writing and send it to all the superintendents," he said.

The Establishment Clause of the U.S. Constitution prohibits government entities from favoring one religion over another; therefore, public school educators who want to allow Bible distribution would also have to allow other religious groups to hand out their literature, such as Muslims handing out Qurans, Sharp said.

Instead, the ACLU noted, individual teachers or principals sometimes allow a group such as Gideons to enter classrooms and hand out Bibles without giving that opportunity to other groups.

Earlier this year, the ACLU sent a request under the state's Open Records Act to every district in the state asking for each district's policies and paperwork regarding outside groups who speak or distribute materials to students.

The group found that 115 school districts don't have written policies about outside organizations coming to school during school hours and lack explicit criteria about distribution of materials.

The ACLU made several recommendations to districts, including making the superintendent the only official authorized to allow outside groups to distribute materials, and requiring those organizations to make requests to distribute materials in writing.

The Kentucky School Boards Association also released a series of recommendations. The association noted that it is possible for a district to prohibit all outside groups from distributing materials, but such a move might be impractical because it would affect a wide variety of groups, including Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and sports clubs.

"Districts and school officials cannot engage in 'viewpoint discrimination,' in determining which materials to allow or prohibit," the association said. "In general, this refers to restricting the distribution of materials simply because the subject matter is unpopular or controversial; because it expresses a particular social, political, or religious message; or simply because school officials disagree with the message."

ACLU Executive Director Michael Aldridge said an investigation by the group found that Gideons International had "exploited district's lack of a centralized decision-maker for these types of requests by specifically instructing its members to seek approval for their in-school Bible distribution efforts at the lowest level of authority."

Jeff Pack, a spokesman for Gideons International in Nashville, said the group's policy is to approach individual school boards and "follow whatever direction they give us. We always go through the school board."

Logan County Superintendent Marshall Kemp said his district has allowed Gideons to hand out Bibles in the past, "but we probably won't in the future."

"Schools are not supposed to support one religion over another and I understand that, but in the past it was a resource for students who wanted them," he said.

No other religious group has ever requested permission to pass out materials, Kemp said, "but if we allowed one, we would have to allow others."

School districts to screen incoming kindergarteners for key learning skills

Within the first few weeks of school, every Kentucky kindergartener is being screened for school readiness - the results of which will provide a vast amount of valuable information to assist teachers, schools, families, child care providers and preschools in preparing Kentucky's youngest students for success.

Governor Steve Beshear, First Lady Jane Beshear and Education Commissioner Terry Holliday announced that every school district will utilize the Brigrance Kindergarten Screener, a tool used by many states to gauge a child's preparedness for school. During last year's pilot program, 109 school districts voluntarily used the screener, which helps teachers and schools target the best ways to meet the needs of each child in the classroom.

"Kentucky is proud to be implementing a common kindergarten screener that considers the whole child," said Gov. Beshear. "With the implementation of the screener, we will now have data to inform and build upon the work in early childhood that has taken place in Kentucky for more than 20 years."

"As a former teacher, I understand how getting to know a student's needs and abilities early in the school year can make a big difference in helping that child to succeed," said Mrs. Beshear. "This screener can quickly show teachers each student's 'starting point', and lesson plans and teaching styles can be molded to maximize their effectiveness. This will be a wonderful tool not only for the schools, but for families as well."

The Governor, First Lady and Commissioner made today's announcement at Frankfort's Early Learning Village, which has a full-day kindergarten program. The school is using the screener for the first time this year. Most kindergarteners were screened at a registration day before school began.

How the screener works

The screener is not a test or entrance exam for kindergarten, nor does it determine a child's placement in a classroom. Age is the only requirement to attend kindergarten in Kentucky.

The screener lasts about 20 minutes and provides a snapshot of the child's current development and abilities. The student doesn't have to leave the classroom, and the screeners are administered by an adult the child knows, such as a teacher or certified elementary school personnel.

Students will be asked to perform tasks such as drawing a person or identifying body parts like ankles or shoulders. They will be asked if they know their first and last names, their age, and the alphabet. Some may be asked to count as high as they can, or to stand on one foot. Each of these screening questions helps indicate the child's awareness, motor skills, engagement, and other skills. A student cannot "fail" the screener.

Parents will also be asked to fill out a form explaining their child's habits and interests, which can provide a more complete view of the student for the school.

Data collected in the pilot districts last year indicates that a majority of children are socially and emotionally ready to succeed as they enter school. However, many students did not achieve at high levels in the cognitive, language and motor domains.

"Based on last year's data, only about 28 percent of students start kindergarten ready to succeed without additional supports," said Education Commissioner Terry Holliday. "We need to work with parents and early learning providers to better ready students for school and in turn our schools also must be ready to address student learning needs from day one to ensure students are successful and on track throughout school so they graduate college/career-ready."

How screener info will be used

Research shows that exposure to high-quality learning environments and developmentally appropriate experiences from birth to five years old are critical for children to achieve success in kindergarten.

Communities and school districts will utilize the screener data to enhance needed supports and resources for families and early childhood programs in the areas of cognitive, language and motor development for young children.

Later this year, the screener data will be aggregated and reported publicly by district and county. This information will be used to inform decision-making about early childhood systems and to identify state and local challenges in school readiness. Over time, this will allow districts to mobilize communities in targeting goals for families and students, and will also provide opportunities to measure improvements with meaningful data.

Preparing kids for kindergarten

Families can help ensure their child will be ready by doing simple everyday activities such as reading with their children every day, encouraging curiosity, answering questions and having conversations with their child about the world around them, even if the children aren't yet talking. It is never too early to start doing these activities.

"Children who start school ready are more likely to graduate from high school ready for college or a career," said Terry Tolan, executive director of the Governor's Office of Early Childhood. "We are committed to helping every child be ready to succeed when they arrive at kindergarten."

Cabinet Office awards kynector grants

The Cabinet for Health and Family Services' Office of the Kentucky Health Benefit Exchange (KHBE) announced initial grant awards to agencies and organizations that will be known as "kynectors" to assist consumers who enroll for healthcare benefits through kynect, Kentucky's Healthcare Connection. A second round of grants for certain geographic areas will be awarded later.

"We're pleased to have these important partners on board with us to help Kentuckians enroll through the kynect marketplace," said CHFS Secretary Audrey Tayse Haynes. "As we approach Oct. 1, the start date for open enrollment, it is more important than ever that we be prepared to assist people across the state in navigating the new healthcare options that will be available to them, whether private insurance is the best option or they qualify for coverage under the Medicaid expansion."

The request-for-proposal (RFP) asked for applications from for-profit and nonprofit entities and community and volunteer organizations with experience reaching Kentucky's diverse populations to assist the Commonwealth in reaching the goal of expanding health benefit coverage throughout Kentucky. These contractors will help individuals and small businesses in Kentucky determine their health plan needs and assist them in choosing plans to meet those needs.

Proposals were to target specific geographic areas, based on the state's eight Medicaid regions. Competitive grant awards are being made to Community Action Kentucky (CAK) for regions 1, 2, 6 and 7 totaling approximately $3.4 million and to the Kentuckiana Regional Planning Development Agency (KIPDA) for region 3 for $937,982.

Funding is also being awarded to several agencies within the Cabinet that have established partnerships with local agencies, such as the Department for Public Health (DPH), the Department for Behavioral Health, Developmental and Intellectual Disabilities (BHDID), the Commission for Children with Special Health Care Needs (CCSHCN), the Family Youth Resources Services Centers (FRYSCs) and the Department of Aging and Independent Living (DAIL).

The Cabinet announced that it would issue a second RFP in the near future to seek contractors in regions 4, 5 and 8.

Duties of kynectors will include conducting public education activities to raise awareness of health plans available through kynect; distributing fair and impartial information about the available health plans; facilitating enrollment in health plans; and providing referrals to any applicable offices in the event of complaints and appeals. A kynector cannot receive any compensation or benefit directly or indirectly from any health insurance issuer or issuer of stop loss insurance in connection with the enrollment of any individual or employee in a plan.

In addition to kynector grants, other agencies and volunteers will be able to receive free training in becoming a certified application counselor. A form and instructions on how to participate with kynect as a certified application counselor will be available on the KHBE website no later than August 27.

"As we continue our outreach and education efforts leading up to open enrollment, we are pleased that Community Action and KIPDA will be joining the exchange and other Cabinet agencies in getting the word out about kynect," said Carrie Banahan, executive director of KHBE. "In addition to these kynectors grants, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Health Resources and Services Administration recently awarded grants to 20 Health Centers to hire 52 additional workers who will assist with enrollment, which will further complement these efforts." The Affordable Care Act requires each state to create its own health benefit exchange or default to the federal government's exchange system. Gov. Steve Beshear issued an executive order establishing the Office of the Kentucky Health Benefit Exchange in July 2012.

Kentuckians can visit the exchange's website at kynect.ky.gov or call 1-855-4kynect (459-6328) to learn more about the program, which is expected to help more than 640,000 uninsured Kentuckians get covered by private insurance plans or Medicaid and the Kentucky Children's Health Insurance Program (KCHIP).

Open enrollment for individuals seeking to purchase insurance through kynect begins Oct. 1, 2013 and runs through March 31, 2014, with coverage beginning as soon as Jan. 1, 2014. Open enrollment for small businesses also begins Oct. 1, 2013, but businesses with 50 or fewer employees will be able to choose to enroll employees in plans offered through kynect at any point after that date.

During open enrollment, Kentuckians will be able to compare and select insurance plans and find out if they qualify for programs like Medicaid and KCHIP by using the kynect website, a toll-free contact center, a mail-in application or in person. Individuals will find out if they qualify for payment assistance and special discounts on deductibles, copays and co-insurance. kynect will also be able to assist small businesses with enrolling their employees in health plans, and businesses with fewer than 25 employees may qualify for tax credits.

To learn more, visit kynect.ky.gov, or follow the program at twitter.com/kynectky or visit Facebook.Com/KynectKy.

Ky. call center shares answers to most frequently asked questions about Affordable Care Act

By Mary Meehan
Lexington Herald-Leader

A call center designed to help 640,000 Kentuckians sign up for health insurance received 422 calls in its first week of operation.

The call center was created as part of the Affordable Care Act, the health-care reform measure that requires nearly every American to have health insurance by March. In Kentucky, people can't sign up for coverage until Oct. 1 but the call center opened last week to answer questions and explain the process of enrolling in insurance.

According to the state Cabinet for Health and Family services, 404 calls were in English and 16 were in Spanish. When fully staffed with 100 operators, the Lexington-based call center can handle 5,000 calls a day.

Here are the most frequently asked questions with answers according to the state.

Question: Can I enroll today? Or, I've just been dropped from my insurance, how can I enroll?

Answer: Open enrollment begins Oct. 1, 2013, and runs through March 31, 2014. More information will be available as the October enrollment period gets closer. No insurance coverage becomes active until Jan. 1, 2014.

Q: What are the metal level plans?

A: All health plans will be classified into four metal categories: Bronze, Silver, Gold and Platinum. As the metal level increases in value, so does the percentage of medical expenses that a plan will cover.

For example, the platinum level plan will have the highest premium cost but it will also cover the highest portion (about 90 percent) of the medical costs at the time of care. A bronze plan will cover about 60 percent of medical costs and the Silver and Gold plans fall between Platinum and Bronze.

Q: I want health insurance but I can't afford it. What can I do?

A: By using the website Kynect. Ky.Gov, you may find that you are eligible to receive payment assistance or special discounts to help cover the costs of coverage. The website allows you to compare and select insurance plans, and find out if you qualify for subsidized programs like Medicaid or KCHIP, the Kentucky Children's Health Insurance Program.

Q: How much will my premium be?

A: It's unclear now exactly how much premiums will be. There is a calculator at HealthBenefitExchange.ky.gov that can provide an estimate.

Q: Will my Medicare benefits be cut under the new law?

A: No. The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act does not eliminate or reduce benefits provided under Medicare. In addition, those under 65 and on Medicare will not lose any benefits. Coverage will remain the same with some in this group receiving additional benefits under Part B.

Got a question?

The call center to answer questions about the Kentucky insurance program created under Affordable Care Act, Kynect.Ky.Gov is up and running.

Operators can answer questions about how to obtain insurance and insurance options. The number is 1-855-459-6328. Hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Eastern time, Monday through Friday. Saturday hours will begin Oct. 1 with open enrollment.

Wildcats open season with loss to Carroll

The 2013 Pendleton County football campaign began last Friday as the Wildcats took on Carroll County. A jam-packed Veteran's Field crowd saw the Wildcats score first, but after that, it was all Panthers as Carroll County came away with a 44-11 victory.

Pendleton County took the opening kickoff and drove down the field with a nice mix of passing and running plays, but the drive stalled just inside the red zone. Coach Brown sent his special teams on the field led by senior Cody Hanser who drilled a 35 yard field goal to make it 3-0 just four minutes into the game. Carroll County followed with a pair of touchdown drives to close out the quarter with a score of 12-3 in favor of the Panthers.

The second quarter saw most of the action in the middle of the field as both teams had trouble either moving the ball or avoiding penalties. Carroll County had success on their next drive, but a fumble recovery by David Huck gave the ball back to the Wildcats. A Carroll County rushing touchdown late in the quarter made the halftime score 19-3.

At halftime, the Future Wildcat football and cheerleaders were honored; a line of young ladies and gentleman that stretched the entire length of the football field. It was obvious to see that the future is indeed bright in these sports.

The third quarter opened with a kickoff return for a touchdown by Carroll County, followed by a safety on Pendleton County that was caused by a bad snap on a punt. Two consecutive Carroll County drives were stopped by fumble recoveries by Pendleton players Austin McGee and Jordan Morgan.

The Panthers opened the fourth quarter with a quick score to make it 41-3, which brought the running clock rule into effect. The next play brought the home crowd to its feet as junior Hunter Lea scampered 90 yards on the kickoff return for a touchdown, and senior Kyle Silbersack added a 2-pt. conversion to make it 38-11 Carroll County. A late Carroll County field goal closed out the scoring to make the final score 44-11 in favor of the Panthers.

On the evening, quarterback Adam Koeninger was 23-30 for 129 yards and one interception. He also had 22 yards rushing on seven carries. Logan Decker led the receiving corps with three catches for 60 yards.

On the defensive side, seniors Jason Wilder and Gary Holland led with seven and six tackles, respectively.

While the team didn't come up on the winning side of the scoreboard, there were things that coach Terry Brown was pleased with. "We forced five fumbles tonight, and recovered three of them. I was happy with our defensive play; we just need to tackle better. We'll work this week on the small things, and won't make those same mistakes again. Our special team play was impressive tonight, something I learned from Virginia Tech coach Frank Beamer. There are three phases of the game, and you have to play well in all three to win."

Next week the Wildcats travel to play Cincinnati Country Day, with the game starting at 7:30 p.m.

"Just play. Have fun. Enjoy the game."

Wildcats Soccer team loses key member to injury during opening week of season

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

Following her club's season opening victory over Rowan County last Tuesday, fifth year Wildcats soccer coach Lisa Feltner stated emphatically that the number one concern for the team to focus on this season was remaining healthy.

Last year, in the team's second game of the season, senior McKenzie Colvin suffered an injury that sidelined him throughout the regular season. He was able to appear in the Wildcats postseason playoff game, but was clearly not at full effectiveness. His absence in the lineup could be felt throughout the entire season.

In a cruel twist of fate, lightning somehow managed to strike the Wildcats once again. Last Saturday, as the team hosted Russell, senior striker Travis Brinkman suffered a knee injury that at the time of this writing is feared to be a torn ACL. If confirmed, Brinkman's season will be over.

"He planted his foot and tried to make a cut," explained Feltner. "When he did, his foot got stuck and he made an awkward turn. His knee went one way, and his body went the other way. He said he felt and could hear a pop."

Russell went on to knock off the 'Cats 2-1. Feltner admitted that her team seemed to lose a sense of focus and were clearly thinking about their fallen teammate. "You could really tell they were off their game a bit. Travis got injured five minutes into the game and unfortunately in soccer, there are no timeouts. There is no time to re-group and gather yourselves until halftime."

Brinkman's absence from the lineup will force the 'Cats to make numerous adjustments in formation and call for some younger member's of the roster to step up to try fill the void. "I have faith in our player's but there's no denying that will be a much different team without Travis," said Feltner.

The 'Cats opened the season with a 3-1 win over Rowan County. Pendleton County outshot Rowan by a lopsided 42-17 margin. Senior Max Dewald led the way with a pair of goals. Last Thursday, the 'Cats traveled to St. Pat and routed the Saints, 12-2. Nine different players scored for the 'Cats, as Max and his younger brother, Mike Dewald, scored two goals each.

Travis Brinkman added two scores, and Eli Stahl, Cody Hanser, CJ Osborne, Clay Thompson, Tanner Pugh and Tony Sanchez all got into the scoring column.

This week, the 'Cats have a pair of road games. The team travels to square off against Conner at 7:45 p.m. on Tuesday, August 27, and will face Villa Madonna at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday afternoon.

Athletes attend KHSAA Hype Leadership Conference

Six Pendleton County High School Junior student-athletes attended the KHSAA HYPE Leadership Conference in Lexington on Monday, August 19. The Conference is dedicated to increase the leadership abilities of athletes across the state and return to their schools and lead their teams to success. "We looked at athletes who played multiple sports and would let us maximize the leadership capabilities that each of them would return to PCHS with," Athletic Director Keith Smith pointed out. THE NATE JONES REPORT

By Jack Wright

Pendleton County's hometown Major League Baseball star, Nathan Andrew "Nate" Jones, is in his second season as a relief pitcher with the Chicago White Sox. Below are brief details of his in-game activities for the week ending August 25, 2013.

Wednesday, August 21, versus the Kansas City Royals: Entered the game to begin the bottom of the 8th inning, Sox leading 5-2. First batter (Alex Gordon) strikes out swinging. Second batter (Salvador Perez) high chopper ground ball to Jones results in errant throw to first base ruled as a hit by the official scorer. Third batter (Mike Moustakas) walks to put runners on first and second base. Fourth batter (David Lough) lines out to first base for an unassisted double play to end the inning. Sox do not score in the top of the 9th inning and Jones is replaced by another relief pitcher to begin the bottom. Sox go on to win the game 5-2 with Jones recording his 10th hold of the season. One inning pitched; four batters faced; 17 pitches (10 strikes); one hit; one walk; zero runs; one strike out.

Thursday, August 22, versus the Kansas City Royals: Entered the game in the bottom of the 9th inning, no outs, runner on first base, score tied 3-3. First batter (Salvador Perez) strikes out swinging. Second batter (Billy Butler) grounds into a shortstop-to-second base-to-first base double play to end the inning. Sox do not score in the top of the 10th inning and Jones comes back out to pitch the bottom. First batter (Justin Maxwell) called out on strikes. Second batter (Mike Moustakas) strikes out swinging. Third batter (Emilio Bonifacio) singles to center field. Fourth batter (Alicedus Escobar) while batting, runners on first base steals second base, then grounds out to third base to end the inning with the score still tied 3-3. Sox do not score in the top of the 11th inning and Jones is replaced by another relief pitcher to begin the bottom. Sox go on to win the game 4-3 in 12 innings. Two innings pitched; six batters faced; 26 pitches (20 strikes); one hit; zero runs; three strike outs.

Saturday, August 24, versus the Texas Rangers: Entered the game to begin the top of the 9th inning, score tied 2-2. First batter (David Murphy) called out on strikes. Second batter (Jurickson Profar) is hit by a pitch putting a runner on first base. Third batter (Leonys Martin) pops out to the catcher in foul territory. Fourth batter (Elvis Andrus) grounds out to second base to end the inning. Sox score one run in the bottom of the 9th inning to win the game 3-2 with Jones recording his 4th win of the season. One inning pitched; four batters faced; 12 pitches (9 strikes); zero hits; one hit batsman; zero runs; one strike out.

Sunday, August 25, versus the Texas Rangers: Entered the game to begin the top of the 8th inning, Sox leading 5-2. First batter (Alex Rios) strikes out swinging. Second batter (David Murphy) flies out to left field. Third batter (A. J. Pierzynski) doubles to right field. Fourth batter (Jurickson Profar) strikes out swinging to end the inning. Sox do not score in the bottom of the 8th inning and Jones is replaced by another relief pitcher to begin the 9th. Sox go on to win the game 5-2 with Jones recording his 11th hold of the season. One inning pitched; four batters faced; 13 pitches (9 strikes); one hit; zero runs; two strike outs.

Jones' stats for the week: 4 games; 5 innings pitched; 18 batters faced; 68 pitches (48 strikes); 3 hits; 1 walk; 1 hit batsman; 0 runs; 7 strike outs; 1 win; 2 holds.

Jones' stats for the season: 58 games; 68.1 innings pitched; 277 batters faced; 1117 pitches (713 strikes); 60 hits; 25 walks; 8 wild pitches; 1 hit batsman; 79 strike outs; 4 home runs; 33 runs (29 earned); 3.82 earned run average; 4 wins; 4 losses; 11 holds; 4 blown saves.

Sox season record: 54 wins; 75 losses; last place American League Central Division; twenty-two-and-a-half games behind the division leading Detroit Tigers.

Pendleton Recreation Ejection Policy

With Recreation Youth Football, Cheerleading and Soccer seasons starting up, parents, fans and players are reminded about the Pendleton County Recreation ejection policy. It says:

• If deemed necessary by official, youth sport director or recreation director, any parent, player, coach, or spectator can be asked to leave the game or practice. If coach/parent/player is ejected from a game/practice, they are ineligible for any future practices/games until after a meeting with recreation director to determine if they are allowed to resume attendance at recreation events. Parents can appeal decision of recreation director to the Recreation Commission at their next scheduled meeting.

Too often, we, unfortunately, see instances on the news of situations in youth sports of adults who are out of control. Pendleton Recreation does not want Pendleton County to be the next story and encourage parents, players, coaches and fans to remember Recreation sports is about the kid playing and not winning or setting themselves up for a college scholarship at the age of six. It's about getting the kids out and active, learning valuable lessons in life and simply enjoying sports.

PCEF holds 19th Annual Golf Scramble

Seventy-one golfers took to the greens as the Pendleton County Education Foundation held their 19th Annual Golf Scramble at the Pendleton County Country Club. This is the Foundation's only fundraiser of the year. They would like to thank everyone who participated in any way.

The PCEF were so fortunate to have the following hole sponsors: American Fidelity Educational Services, Avaya/Pomeroy, Carmuse Lime, Central Janitorial supply, Counseling & Diagnostic Centers, Crawford Insurance, Doc & Janice Collins, Glenwood Electric, Inc., Griffin Industries, LLC, Heritage Bank, Northern Elementary School, O'Hara, Ruberg, Taylor, Sloan & Sergeant, Paul Tuemler LP Gas, PHS Class of 1960 & 1962, Pendleton County High School Administrative Team, Ron and Hope Moreland, Ross, Sinclair & Associates, LLC, Woodhead Funeral Home & Memorials, and Woodmen of the World - David Monroe, Agent. These sponsors are the backbone of the Scramble.

They were also pleased to have the following to donate door prizes and gifts: Paul Tuemler LP Gas, DeBra Kuempel, Becky's Flower Basket - Holly Trimble and Bobby Fogle, Fancy Floral - Millie Delk, Central Janitorial - David Orick, The Bank of Kentucky, Pomeroy, Pendleton County Homemakers, Smith & Jolly Landscaping, Cincinnati Bell Technology Solutions, and Dixon Golf.

Pam and Steve Harper donated the snacks. The snacks were delivered to the golfers by Brandi, Kyla and Karli. Daryl Mullins catered the meal; BBQ, baked beans, slaw, cobbler and ice cream was enjoyed by all. PCEF directors served lunch.

First place went to the team from DeBra Kuemle with 14 under. There was a tie for second place with 13 under and the winner was determined by referring to a certain hole score. The team from Cincinnati Telephone Bell Technology Solutions won second and Central Janitorial won third place. There were prizes given for Men's Longest Drive (sponsored by Dixon Golf) - Steve Crawford; Closest to Pin (sponsored by PCEF) - Jamie Hesler; Women's Longest Drive (sponsored by Paul Tuemler LP Gas) - Stephanie Dennemann; Closest to Pin Hole 13 (sponsored by Paul Tuemler LP Gas) - Steve Crawford; Closest to Pin Hole 17 (sponsored by Paul Tuemler LP Gas) - Bill Wethington, and Longest Made Putt (sponsored by Paul Tuemler LP Gas) - Amy Razor.

The PCEF was established in 1992 as a private, non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to provide funding for scholarships to graduating Pendleton County seniors. PCEF also provides character education grants given to all the county schools. Donations are tax-deductible. For more information regarding the PCEF, please call Carole Jeanne Bowen at 472-6821.

Ladycat Volleyball look to repeat

Winning their first 38th District Championship was one of those high school memories that the players will take with them throughout the rest of their lives.

Coach Laura Buck reflected on last year, "The team started their season out slow until they found the teamwork that was a key to success. They set a goal at the beginning of the season to win Districts and before every game they were reminded of that goal."

That experience of how to win a district title is something that coach Buck is counting on for her inexperienced squad.

Wildcats down Thoroughbreds

It's always nice to see a win in the tally column when playing Harrison County regardless of the sport. And on Wednesday, August 21, the Wildcats Golf team downed the Thoroughbreds 175-183.

Lance Jones picked up the medal honors firing a 41 with Dominic Belew right behind him with a 42. Trey Roseberry and Austin Schneider fired a pair of 46's to give the Cats the winning team score.

The Cats hosted Campbell County Monday night but results were not available at press time. Wednesday, PCHS grad, Brad Cox brings his Mason County Royals team to Pendleton Country Club. Brad made a pair of state tournament appearances while a Wildcat golfer.

Ladycat Golf 4-0 in match play

The Ladycat Golf team has started off hot in match play running their record to 4-0 including two JV wins last week over Grant County and Villa Madonna.

Mackenzie Moore has been tough with four medals including one in the JV match versus Villa Madonna when she carded a 39 at the tight Devou Park.

Holley Hart was a single stroke behind and Morgan Cobb shot a nice 44. Lauryn Stout recorded the fourth score for the team with Brooke Cobb and Shelby Johnson also playing.

The Cats played GRC last night on the regional tournament course but results were not available at press time.

BERLIN BAPTIST

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10:00 a.m., morning worship at 11:00 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7:00 p.m. message by Brother Dan Black.

This past Sunday was a wonderful time in the Lord at Berlin Baptist church. Brother Dan's message was taken from Matthew 13:51-52 and titled "Treasure the relevance of the Old Testament."

If you were lucky enough to attend our Homecoming celebration then you know how blessed the service was and filled with the Spirit. We enjoyed great food, made new friends and had an awesome fellowship with the Lord. Our afternoon service was started with a wonderful message from Brother Bobby Barnes. Brother Bobby's message was taken from Philippians 3:12-15 and titled "Look to what lies ahead, forget your past mistakes and move forward to what Christ has in store for your life." We were also blessed to hear the musical talents of New Harmony Ministries.

BLANKET CREEK

It was a great Sunday at church! Bro. Joe's text was "The Greatness of God." Psalm 145:7-8, 17- The greatness of God's person- He is a gracious God. He is full of compassion. Psalms 145:18- The greatness of God's presence- God will draw near to us when we draw near to Him. His presence means the difference between sadness and joy. His presence is eternal. The greatness of God's power- God's power is evident throughout the creation. The greatness of God's power to redeem- God will save to the uttermost and He lives today to redeem the lost. The blood of Christ purchases us back from the devil. The greatness of God's promises- God's word shows us that He has never broken a promise to us. God's church cannot be defeated; He will supply all our needs; He will never forsake us. He has promised us a home in Heaven for the redeemed. We added Butch Sutton to our prayer concerns.

BUTLER METHODIST

Pastor Brian went over the 23rd Psalm with us for his message on Sunday. God saw the people turn from Him and He knew He had to do something, so He sent His son to earth.

The men's group will meet on Saturday the 24 for breakfast and meeting and to give out the food boxes.

The Butler Annual Festival will be held on Sept. 7, a free movie and food was given to the Butler citizens on Friday night.

On Sept. 8 the Administrative Board will be meeting after church.

A potluck picnic will be held on the grounds under the shelter house on September 22. A shorter order of worship will be held on that day.

On Oct. 13 a regular potluck will be held, Wool Fest will be the first weekend.

If you have any announcements for the church bulletin please direct them to our new church secretary, Nancy Kyle.

Please be in prayer for Clay Clifford, family of the Bracken Co. burn victims, Marlee Fullwood, Pams co-worker and Nancy's prayer request. Shine Jesus Shine.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

We began our time of worship with the baptism of Ronnie Turner. We rejoice with the angels in heaven over our new brother in Christ. Please keep Ronnie in your prayers. God has great things in store for him!

Bro. Cohen's message tied in perfectly to the choir's special "10,000 Reasons". The message was taken from Psalm 146 and was about reasons to put our trust and faith in Jesus. Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord God Almighty, who was and is and is to come! The world is passing away, but God is forever. We have at least 10,000 reasons to be Happy, Happy, Happy that God is so faithful.

Sunday evening we joined with our sister churches in the Union Association for our annual picnic.

NOTICE

Please take notice that Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc. has applied to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for approval to revise its Demand Side Management (DSM) rate for electric service and gas service for residential and commercial customers and add new products for its DSM program available to customers. Duke Energy Kentucky's current monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers is ($0.039396) per hundred cubic feet (ccf) and for non-residential gas customers is $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky's current monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers is $0.001988 per kilowatt-hour (kWh) and for non-residential customers is $0.001104 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and $0.001070 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service. Duke Energy Kentucky seeks approval to revise these rates as follows: Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential gas customers would increase to ($0.038919) per hundred cubic feet and for non-residential gas customers would remain at $0.000000 per hundred cubic feet. Duke Energy Kentucky's monthly DSM rate for residential electric customers would increase to $0.002003 per kilowatt-hour and for non-residential customers would increase to $0.001131 per kilowatt-hour for distribution service and would remain at $0.001070 per kilowatt-hour for transmission service. The rate contained in this notice is the rate proposed by Duke Energy Kentucky. However, the Public Service Commission may order a rate to be charged that differs from this proposed rate. Such action may result in a rate for consumers other than the rate in this notice. The foregoing rates reflect a proposed increase in electric revenues of approximately $91 thousand or 0.03% over current total electric revenues and an increase of $31 thousand or 0.03% over current gas revenues. A typical residential gas customer using 70 ccf in a month will see an increase of $0.03 or 0.04%. A typical residential electric customer using 1000 kWh in a month will see an increase of $0.02 or 0.02%. A typical non-residential electric customer using 40 kilowatts and 14,000 kWh will see an increase of $0.39 or 0.03%. Non-residential gas customers and non-residential electric customers served at transmission voltage will see no change in their bills from this application.

Any corporation, association, body politic or person may by motion within thirty (30) days after publication or mailing of notice of the proposed rate changes, submit a written request to intervene to the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Boulevard, P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. The intervention may be granted beyond the thirty (30) day period for good cause shown. Written comments regarding the proposed rate may be submitted to the Public Service Commission by mail or through the Public Service Commission's website. A copy of this application filed with the Public Service Commission is available for public inspection at Duke Energy Kentucky's office at 4580 Olympic Boulevard, Erlanger, Kentucky 41018 and on its website at <http://www.duke-energy.com>. This filing and any other related documents can be found on the Public Service Commission's website at <http://psc.ky.gov>.

"Every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God." 1 John 4:2

We enjoyed a wonderful evening with great food, beautiful music and fabulous preaching.

Come worship with us any time. We'd love to have you.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Brother Rick's message was from 1 John 4:7-21. "Jesus Spells Love" "Beloved let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loves is born of God. He that loves not knows not God; for God is love. In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His son to be the propitiation for our sins. If God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. No man has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God is in us, and His love is perfected in us. Know that we dwell in Him, because He has given us of His spirit. We have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world. Whoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. We love Him because He first loved us" KJV. Keep God's love in your heart.

FALMOUTH METHODIST

Things can get a little tight, money-wise, toward the end of the month for many people. In such circumstances, decisions have to be made... "What are we going to do without?" Unfortunately, food is often one of those items. This is a great hardship, especially when children go hungry. That is one of the reasons the Falmouth United Methodist Church is starting a carry-out dinner outreach in the Falmouth community.

The last Wednesday of each month from 5:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. (unless otherwise noted), the church will be distributing carry-out meals from its location at 230 West Shelby Street. The menu will be simple, yet satisfying. Our hope is to share the love of Jesus Christ as we strive to bring some alleviation of hunger locally.

The first one will be Wednesday, August 28. Help us spread the word.

HARVEST

The morning message was based on scripture text of Romans

12:1-8, "Here I Am Lord, Take Me!" God has good pleasing and perfect plans for His children. He wants us to be transformed with renewed minds, living to honor and obey Him. Because He wants only what is best for us and because He gave His son to make our new lives possible, we should joyfully give ourselves as living sacrifices for His service.

Prayer concerns: Larry McClanahan, L.R. Faulkner, Samantha Bergman, Isabella O'Hara, Becky Ernstes, Abigail Daughtery, Barry Mains, Katelyn Simmons, Bobby Mitchell and the families of Chris Baxter, Nick Sharp, Mike Fisher and Larry Compton.

Come visit with us at 11 E. Shelby St. Services are: Sundays; Bible study 9:30 a.m., worship services 10:30 a.m. & 6:00 p.m. Wednesdays; prayer service 6:00 p.m., praise team practice 7:00 p.m. Youth meetings; Sunday & Wednesday; 6:00 p.m.

Mt. MORIAH

Sunday, August 17, was a lovely day. The temperatures have been wonderful and the flowers, trees, and grass have been beautiful.

Several young people from our congregation have left for college. We congratulate them as they further their education.

Mt. Moriah was happy to help sponsor the Farm Hands Quarter at the Griffin Center. Their music was outstanding and each of them had a wonderful testimony of his Christian life. Many churches in the county were represented at the program. We also were surprised at the concert to have "Little Ellie" and her sister sing. We are thankful that Ellie is improving and able to be with us.

The Kids' Crusade for Christ will begin in early September.

Please remember all the shut-ins, those who have lost loved ones, and our men and women in the service of our country.

"I am the good Shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." John 10:11

Have a beautiful week!

NEW ZION

Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10:00 a.m., morning worship is at 11:00 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m.

Bible study is on Wednesdays at 7:00 p.m.

Upcoming Opportunities: On September 15 at 12:30 p.m. there will be a Disaster Relief meeting and luncheon. On September 22 at 5:30 p.m. we will have our annual Senior Appreciation Dinner. Galatians 5:5 - "For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith."

Please remember in prayer Margie Barrow, Carolyn Shields, David Hale, Slim and Alice Thomas, Adam Downard, Piper Suer, James Orcutt, Tracy Fulton, Joseph Williams our country and its leaders. Also pray for our children and their schools.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

What a great time 47 Oakland people had last Lord's day evening as we picked produce at the "Giving Fields" off Hwy 8 near Silver Grove. What a blessing!

September 13 is Bracken's Relay for Life at the Augusta Boat Dock.

September 15, is our "Happy Trails" at the farm of Jim and Sherry Fields. The Panches Family will be entertaining us at 4:30 p.m. Love offering to be received.

Men's Gathering at Camp Northward is September 13 with Phillip Heller, guest speaker.

The Men's Fellowship is September 16 at Camp Northward.

Ladies Retreat is September 20-21. Cost is $25.

Sympathy goes to loved ones of Betty Pugh, Chris Baxter and Dr. Don Stephens. Prayer concerns include June Clifford, L. R. Faulkner, Leva Kidd, Larry Wright, Charles Downard, Marge Logan, Patty Wolfe, Rena Carol Aulick Lynn, Eudell Hall, Donald England, our shut-ins, our leaders and our armed forces.

PLEASANT RIDGE

The "Pleasant Ridge Prayers" youth group will be having a yard sale at CVS on Saturday, September 7. Camping at Red River Gorge, Koomer Ridge Campgrounds on Sept. 20-22. A concert with the Patriot Quartet has been scheduled for Saturday October 26 at 5:00 p.m. At 4:15 p.m. a "Woolly Worm Race" will take place.

Stop by the yard sale at CVS to see pictures and find out more.

Jesus keep me near the cross, by my glory ever. Bro. Rick's message was from 2 Timothy 1:18. Paul is praying to the Lord for someone. Best method of doing something for someone is pray for them. Expect temptations to come up in your life and when it happens you know who has caused that... SATAN! There will be excitement and terror on judgment day. The decision will be unchangeable. Be strong with the strength Jesus gives you. May the Lord give His special blessings at the day of Christ's return.

Sunday evening Bible Study is in Genesis.

SOUTHSIDE

On August 18, Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Asking the Tough Questions" from Psalm 13:1-6. Brother Clay preached on three thoughts when asking tough questions: 1. Know that it is okay to ask tough questions. 2. Go to the primary source for your answers, and 3. Trust that God knows what He is doing. The memory verse for the week is from Hebrews 4:16, "Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need."

Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9:00 a.m. Sunday School and 10:00 a.m. Worship Service.

TURNER RIDGE

Sunday, August 18 Barry Stephens led the children's message, using a touch of magic to show the children how God made man to have fellowship with Him, and how sin can get in the way of that fellowship.

Renee Brandenburg brought special music and Bailey Boden read scripture, Colossians 2:9-10.

Bro. Dale's message "The Bible: Making Us Complete" was filled with scripture that told us of our responsibility to lead others to Jesus. Once we become a new person in Christ, He places a desire in us to be obedient to the mission. "...walk worthy of the calling with which you were called" Ephesians 4:1

We should walk by faith, not sight and know "...unless one is born again he cannot see the kingdom of God" John 3:3. Join us for worship and Bible study.

Pay attention. Be astonished. Tell about it.

"Pay Attention. Be Astonished. Tell About it." [1] These were the opening words at a recent worship service I attended at the annual American Theological Library Association conference in Charlotte, N.C. Leighton Ford used this excerpt from a Mary Oliver poem to preach a thought-provoking sermon entitled "God Is Paying Attention - Are We?"

What about it, how often do we really pay attention, to anything? When was the last time you were truly astonished? If we are honest, in today's hyper-connected world of Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram, we tell about everything. These instant messaging tools encourage us to tell all, with no requirement for "paying attention and/or astonishment."

Relax, this isn't a Luddite diatribe against technology. After all, I've written a blog entry on a laptop and these words are now posted on the Internet. Rather it is an invitation to consider how often we truly pay attention, why we might want to, and what is gained by the practice.

There are many impediments to paying attention in our world that glorifies the art of multitasking and offers so many tools for doing it. Our smart phones allow us to not only make and receive calls, but to also check e-mail, search the Internet, listen to music, and be instantly updated - all options that require our attention. They encourage us to view the world through their screen instead of directly. What do we miss by viewing that four inch surface when we walk from one place to another; when we sit amid a group of people and choose to engage with the virtual and not the breathing, thinking, feeling, living child of God sitting next to us?

Two years ago, Sean Hayden, a fellow in Vanderbilt's Theology and Practice Program, taught a seminar at Louisville Seminary on Wendell Berry - a rather famous Luddite. The course required that students take two technology sabbaticals, one of three days, the second a full week. During this sabbatical, we were asked to "briefly give up our addiction to technology. No Internet or computers (other than for school use, and then only if absolutely necessary), no TV, and no cell phones or similar devices. The primary goal of the exercise was for us to learn a simple lesson about attention - and how it gets ruined." [2]

Technology for many of the twelve students in the seminar was a way of life. I've likened their use of technology to being as essential to them as breathing is. Their feedback after surviving those days unplugged was very interesting. The biggest surprise? The realization of how much time they spend online. The realization that, "yes, technology does save one time with many tasks, but it often robs one of time by luring one to check out another web page, see what our friends are up to on Facebook, answer the latest e-mail that just came through, or check the latest gossip about our favorite celebrity."

Editor's note: Michael Jenkins is taking his summer break from Thinking Out Loud. In his absence, we are fortunate to have several guest bloggers who have accepted the invitation to write for the blog.
This blog post was guest-written by Louisville Seminary trustee Dr. F. Morgan Roberts.

What about it? Is technology a tool that you control, or is it perhaps controlling you? I think too many forget that there is an off button. What if, instead of having everything on all the time, you only powered up when you needed to check on something or perform a task? I often remind my completely wired twenty-three-year-old daughter that she has the power, she only has to exercise it.

Think about it - what if you unplug and really pay attention to the person in front of you, the task at hand, or the ever changing vista of the natural world. I predict that you will be astonished and that you won't be able to keep from telling about it. It's what happened at a worship service I attended in North Carolina in June.

The basics of stevia

There's been a lot of hype about stevia. Stevia is an extract of a shrub originating from South America and is also grown in India, South Korea and China.

In 2008, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved the use of refined stevia, called Rebiana or Reb A, as an additive in food and beverage products in the United States. Refined stevia is 200 to 300 times sweeter than sugar. The sweetener has no calories, and studies have shown it does not cause a spike in blood-glucose levels, which may make it safe for diabetics. While it was only recently approved in the U.S., the Japanese have used stevia in their diets for years. It was also recently approved for human consumption by the European Union and Canada.

Since receiving approval from the FDA, many products containing processed and refined stevia have been released. Stevia is listed under many names including Stevia in the Raw, Sun Crystals, Pure Via, Enliten, Sweetleaf Sweetener and Truvia.

While products containing stevia may seem like a perfect low-calorie option for those with a sweet tooth, no medical evidence exists to show that it aids in weight loss any more than artificial sweeteners, according to the Mayo Clinic. It can also cause mild side effects for consumers including nausea and the feeling of fullness. The FDA has not approved whole-leaf stevia or crude stevia for human consumption in its pure form yet due to concerns about its effect on blood sugar levels, and the renal, reproductive and the cardiovascular systems.

Like other sweeteners, products containing stevia should be used in moderation. You should carefully read the labels of all food and drinks containing the product as they may include additional calories or carbohydrates from other ingredients.

Additional food and nutrition information is available at the Pendleton County office of the UK Cooperative Extension Service.

Comer launches new mobile science units to teach kids about agriculture

Kentucky students will use a dazzling array of high-tech instruments to learn about agriculture when the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's two new Mobile Science Activity Centers (MSAC) hit the roads this fall.

Agriculture Commissioner James Comer officially launched the new units in a ceremony during the Kentucky State Fair at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville.

"Most school children are two, three, or more generations removed from the farm," Commissioner Comer said. "The Mobile Science Activity Centers enable kids to learn about agriculture's importance in our everyday lives. These new units will use the latest technology to capture the students' attention and help them learn."

The MSACs travel to schools throughout the commonwealth to give students the opportunity to conduct scientific experiments related to agriculture using current educational standards and core content. The new MSACs are 44-foot trailers that each contain 11 iPads, a 70-inch LED monitor, and an all-in-one touchscreen desktop computer. Students will interact with the teacher using the iPads through Insight360 software. The mobile units contain internal generators; heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) systems, and handicapped-accessible ramps.

The mobile units are administered by the Division of Agriculture Education and Outreach in the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Office of Marketing.

The new MSACs were purchased and outfitted with support from Kentucky Agriculture and Environment in the Classroom Inc.'s member partners: the AgriBusiness Association of Kentucky, Farm Credit Mid-America, the Kentucky Agricultural Development Fund, the Kentucky Beef Council, the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, the Kentucky Corn Growers Association, the Kentucky Dairy Development Council, the Kentucky Equine Education Project, Kentucky Farm Bureau, the Kentucky Goat Producers Association, the Kentucky Horse Council, the Kentucky Pork Producers Association, the Kentucky Poultry Federation, the Kentucky Retail Federation, the Kentucky Sheep and Wool Producers Association, the Kentucky Small Grain Growers' Association, the Kentucky Soybean Board, and the Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association.

"This is a great example of a successful public-private sector partnership," Commissioner Comer said. "With the help of our private partners, we will teach Kentucky's kids why agriculture matters to all of us."

The MSACs are booked for the next three school years. School administrators and teachers who want to find out more about the mobile units may contact Elizabeth McNulty at (502) 564-4983 or elizabeth.mculty@ky.gov.

4-H Youth Development

Shelley Meyer

Pendleton County Extension Office

Join 4-H in new school year

A new school year is upon us, and it's a great time to join 4-H, the nation's largest youth organization. 4-H offers experiential learning to youth ages nine to 18 with something for all interests from insects to space to sewing. There are topics for all youths. By participating in 4-H, youths develop many essential life skills including responsibility, leadership and self-esteem.

You can get involved in 4-H several ways by participating in clubs or completing projects. Clubs provide youths a chance to practice leadership skills while making new friends. Topics vary across the state depending on local youths' interests, and range from animals to communications to financial management. From science to crafts, youths of all ages and abilities will find something that interests them in 4-H projects. By completing projects, youths not only develop new interests and hobbies but also important skills such as self-confidence, time management and critical thinking. While the deadline has passed for state fair entries this year, youths can get a jump start on next year's project by joining 4-H this month.

In addition to clubs and projects, 4-H offers numerous in-school and after-school programs for youth. 4-H youth development agents make many visits to county schools throughout the year to offer hands-on learning. Many times they reinforce subjects youth are learning in school, but they also provide information on topics such as character development, fitness and healthy eating.

After-school programs offer fun, hands-on activities for youths in a safe environment. Programs differ among communities depending on area 4-H's needs and interests, but some possible subjects include healthy living, communications, family and consumer sciences, environmental and earth science, plants and animals, science and technology and leadership. By participating in any of these programs, youths learn how to set goals, make sound decisions and resolve conflicts.

4-H offers a world of opportunities for youths to explore. For more information on how youths can get involved, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

The Amish Cook shares Easy Peach Custard Dessert Recipe

The Amish Cook

By Lovina Eicher

This week my husband Joe and the boys have been busy in the evenings trimming the fence rows. We have the posts, gates, and fence wire here to fence in the hay field. The horses and ponies will be glad to be back on pasture again. We put our pasture field into beans this year. Eventually we will want to put it back into a hayfield. We were going to put corn in that field but the farmer has seed corn across the road. Field corn has to be a certain distance away from seed corn. The farmer offered to trade us corn for beans.

We had quite a rude awakening around 2:30 a.m. one morning. A guy knocked at our door telling us our horses and ponies are out on the road. Everyone got dressed and grabbed flashlights. The men in the truck helped by driving down the road to shine their headlights for us. We had them all headed for the barn when the leader of the pack, Stormy the pony, decided we needed more exercise. He headed past the house and of course the horses followed. We were able to head off the rest of the ponies and got them in the barn. It did look funny seeing the little Prancer (the miniature colt) coming down the road with all the big horses. The horses went around our neighbor Joe's house and Elizabeth ran that way to head them back. When they headed back they ran across the road and into the bean field across the road. We finally had every way blocked off and Elizabeth headed them towards the barn again. That time was successful. It was past 3 a.m. And Joe was glad he had the next day off. Someone forgot to shut a gate which was a good lesson for us to check all gates before going to bed. Elizabeth tripped and fell while running after the horses. She has badly bruised and scratched knees and hands.

Two mornings after that the horses popped the hinges on the gate and were happily eating in the hayfield. It's like they are telling us to hurry with that fence so they can eat the fresh grass. This time it was daylight and we were able to round them up and head them right through the gates by the hayfield. And of course we tried to bribe Stormy with a scoop of feed so he wouldn't be a troublemaker again.

Our neighbors have been over helping evenings to get the holes dug for the new posts. Saturday we will have more help in hopes of getting everything enclosed for the horse and ponies.

We will have everyone that helped and their families over for a chicken barbecue Saturday evening.

Meanwhile the garden is still producing a lot of cucumbers and tomatoes. We have been canning more dill pickles and salsa. I pulled the red beets last night.

Detasseling is done now. Verena and Loretta are still leaving around 3 p.m. to stay with 93 year old Vivian. They come home around 12:30 a.m. They want to bake cookies for her today when they are there. She said she would like sugar cookies.

We have a bushel of peaches here waiting to be worked up. Have two more bushels on order.

Try this recipe for Easy Peach Custard Dessert:

EASY PEACH CUSTARD DESSERT

INGREDIENTS

- 2 cups sugar
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 4 tablespoons melted butter
- 4 cups fresh peaches, cut fine

DIRECTIONS

Pour into a 9 X 13" pan. Sprinkle cinnamon on top. Bake at 325 until the center is almost set. About 30 minutes.

Largest pumpkin weighs 1,000 pounds at the Kentucky State Fair Prestonsburg, Kentucky grower Dwight Slone grabbed first place in the fourth annual Largest Pumpkin Contest. His pumpkin weighed 1,034 pounds. Slone was also the 2011 runner-up. He was declared the winner at the 2013 Kentucky State Fair during the official weigh-in on Friday afternoon, August 16, 2013 on the West Hall porch. The winning pumpkin was to be awarded $1 per pound if it weighed over 1,000 pounds. The contest is the largest premium of any Kentucky State Fair entry category.

Love + to LAUGH

Laughter is one of the biggest joys in life. So it's a crying shame that some people stifle their laughter or feel they have to cover their smiles because of crooked, yellowed or missing teeth.

If that sounds familiar to you, please come and see us for a consultation. There have been great advances in recent years, and braces and cosmetic dentistry may be more affordable and less bothersome than you think.

Laugh well, laugh often...with a beautiful smile brought to you by
